ABOUT THE PROGRAM

The Diploma in Pediatric Nutrition is a comprehensive, evidence-based training program designed to empower Dietitians, Nutritionists, Pediatric Therapists, Nurses, Early Interventionists, and Allied Health Professionals with advanced knowledge and clinical skills in child nutrition.

Diploma in Pediatric Nutrition

1 Year Online Training Program with International Certification

Diploma in Pediatric Nutrition

- This one-year, 200-hour online weekend program integrates scientific learning with practical application, enabling participants to confidently assess nutritional concerns, plan individualized diet charts, guide parents, and support children with varied developmental and medical needs.
- The curriculum focuses on nutrition across all childhood stages—infants, toddlers, preschoolers, school-age children, and adolescents. Special emphasis is given to developmental and neurodevelopmental conditions, including Autism, ADHD, Cerebral Palsy, Down Syndrome, and Feeding Disorders.
- Participants will learn through live interactive classes, real clinical case discussions, diet planning workshops, and a supervised internship. Graduates will emerge with the skills to practice pediatric nutrition independently or as part of multidisciplinary teams in clinics, therapy centers, hospitals, and schools.
